Dear Sir:

The catalog you got hold of was evidently quite an old one. We are going to send you one of our latest under separate cover. The catalog from which your goods were billed was F-6. The latest one, which goes into effect January 1st, is F-7, and it is F-7 which is coming to you.

We are sorry to learn that you have gotten into trouble through consulting the old catalog. To help you out we are sending you a corrected bill, making it $55.00 net.

Very truly yours,

J.W.T./B.E.F.

My dear Doctor:

I have just received your favor of the 4th inst., and it is with much regret and some confusion that I find myself again compelled to decline. It is not that I would find the least difficulty in performing that service, which I regard most distinctly as a compliment, but simply because by another evil chance the date coincides to the day and the hour, with the meeting of our Board of Directors, which is regularly held here on the second Wednesday after Easter.

I thank you for remembering me, and regretting sincerely that this circumstance prevents my acceptance, I remain, with best wishes and regards,

Sincerely yours,

A. J. O'Connell
