A deaf woman and a deaf fox were in the news. The deaf woman, Beth Tyler-King, a British animal rescuer, picked up an abandoned deaf fox. She taught the deaf fox to follow hand signals. Both the deaf woman and the deaf fox are inseparable. The fox will never be released to the wild and behaves like a domesticated pet at Beth's home. If the deaf fox gets mischievous, a scolding wiggle of Beth's finger will do the job!

THE DEAF AND THE CHIMP

About 30 years ago, a deaf oral leader gave a speech saying that ASL users have intelligence equal to a chimp. It was insulting and everyone was angry.

A few years ago, scientists at a Japanese university did experiments on chimps. They found out that in some ways the chimp is equally as smart as humans. Chimps remember things that we, the humans, often forget.

Was the oral deaf leader correct? You decide!

WRITING NOTES AT A BAR

Two men were communicating by passing notes back and forth at a bar. Would that be a deaf man and a hearing man?

No. Both men were hearing. Why did they pass notes back and forth?

The noise at the bar was so loud that they could not communicate by voice!

BLIZZARD BEST THING THAT HAPPENED TO A DEAF FAMILY

The blizzard has hit the Washington, DC area this weekend. But for one deaf family it was the best thing that has happened to them!

The deaf parents drove to Washington, DC to pick up their daughter who was finishing up her semester at Gallaudet and to bring her home.

The deaf family was trapped in the blizzard, forcing them to stay at a hotel near the Gallaudet campus. With nothing to do at the hotel, and with snow still outside, the family got together and talked and talked.

Said the father:

I was busy with my job at a school for the deaf; the daughter was busy with her Gallaudet studies and we never really got to sit together for a long and meaningful conversation

GROWING UP WITH THE DEAF AS A NON-CODA

Joseph Patrick Youngs III, who is not deaf, and is not a Coda, grew up playing with and making friends with the deaf on an island in Maine.

The island in Maine is where the Governor Baxter School for the Deaf is located. And if the name Youngs is familiar, well, the father Dr. Joseph Youngs served as the school superintendent, and that was when the son got to know the deaf.

What about it? He is one of the two nominees to become the new state Superior Court judge.

TO BE A RESTAURANT MANAGER

Could a deaf person function as a restaurant general manager? It is not an easy job for a hearing person. There are always problem dining patrons; waiters and cooks that do not show up thus leaving the staff shorthanded, kitchen equipment that break down, cooks and waiters arguing with each other, surprise visits by food inspectors, trucks do not show up with the food for the day, etc, etc.

Well, ask Laura Nuccio. She is deaf and serves as general manager of the Nibbles Play Cafe in Wheeling, IL. This restaurant serves the most finicky of all patrons - these one to seven year old kids!

TAKING SOCCER TOO SERIOUSLY

There was a story posted on one of these soccer blogs this week. It went like this:

At the 1985 UEFA Cup, Rijeka, a team in Croatia, played against Real Madrid of Spain. A Belgian referee ejected the Croatian player Denisca after his second yellow card. The first yellow was for continuing to play after the whistle was blown. The second yellow was for "insulting" the referee.

Well, Denisca (first name not known) was deaf and could not hear the whistle, that earned him the first yellow. And he used sign language to communicate, which earned him the second yellow, an automatic ouster!

This happened 24 years ago, yet the most rabid soccer fans remember it as if it just happened yesterday.

A HEARING AID

A hearing aid is a non-CI device that helps some deaf people to hear.

There are good hearing aids. There are also bad hearing aids.

A newspaper story said:

he has to wear a special hearing aid

Special hearing aid? Meaning there are hearing aids that are special and hearing aids that are not special?

DeafDigest assumes the writer does not know what he is writing about!

Interpreters and ASL & ITP Students and Teachers Deserve More from a Conference

Hi ... We are the 31st World's Largest Silent Weekend

The venue for the June 24-27, 2010 event will handle 700-1000 participants and include a medical interpreting track. Novice, beginning, intermediate and advanced ASL and ITP students, as well as interpreters (CEUs offered) will have around 150 hours of seminars to choose from.

The 31st Silent Weekend is at the Florida Hotel at the Florida Mall in Orlando with its huge food court allowing you to have a complete meal for $5.99 instead of paying $20-30 at other conferences' hotel prices. The room costs are even lower next year ... just $105 with free parking and unlimited free internet!

Students, teachers and interpreters seeking to improve their skills can bring family members and they can take novice sign language classes! Many of our current interpreters started out as novice ASL students at the Silent Weekend!

There are simply no other local, regional or national conferences offering you so many hours of classes as inexpensively as the Silent Weekends. Just check them out and register at <http://www.DrSign.com>

Hot DeafNews boring, but important!

A Deaf Male Gene, but not a Deaf Female Gene? What's that?
Well, the National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders is saying that they found a gene described as follows:

Gene Linked to a Rare Form of Progressive Hearing Loss in Males is Identified

The offending gene is DFN2; DeafDigest does not pretend to understand what this is, but genetics would.

Seeking Applicants For NTID Instructional/Support Faculty
Master of Science Education Program
National Technical Institute for the Deaf
Rochester, NY

The Master of Science in Secondary Education program (<http://ntid.rit.edu/msse>) invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position. We seek candidates with expertise in deaf education theory and practice, and with a minimum of three years experience teaching deaf and hard-of-hearing students at the middle school or secondary levels.

Minimum qualifications include a doctoral degree (or ABD) in the education of the deaf, English or a relevant field, and professional certification from the Council on Education of the Deaf (CED) and New York State professional or permanent certification in teaching deaf, hard-of-hearing and/or hearing students (or equivalent from other states), grades 7 - 12. Proficiency in sign language and knowledge of deaf culture as well as a record of scholarly productivity relevant to the position are required.

The National Technical Institute for the Deaf (NTID), one of eight colleges of RIT, is the world's largest technological college serving over 1300 deaf and hard-of-hearing students. NTID is committed to creating a climate that fosters the success of every student and employee by appreciating the unique contributions that each person makes to the educational process based on their ethnic, cultural, linguistic and gender-related knowledge and experiences

Description:
Specific assignments will include teaching courses from the pedagogy sequence and/or other courses within one's area of expertise;
designing, developing, implementing and assessing student teaching;
conducting research in areas related to the program; providing academic, capstone project and job placement advising; and assisting the program director in various projects. The successful candidate must be committed to excellence and innovation in teaching and active engagement in scholarly or creative activities related to instruction and curriculum. Women, individuals of color, deaf and hard-of-hearing individuals, and members of other under-represented groups are strongly urged to apply

Ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the college's continuing commitment to cultural diversity, pluralism, and individual difference strongly preferred.

The Rochester Institute of Technology is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All individuals with the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the university's continuing commitment to cultural diversity, pluralism, and individual differences are encouraged to make application.

For complete details and application procedures, see <https://mycareer.rit.edu> - Search for IRC#34230.
