Campus festival kicks off Political Awareness Month

Politics can be profitable, educational and fun: Profitable when minority groups like the deaf realize the clout they can have by becoming politically more knowledgeable, better organized and involved . . . Educational when a well-planned Political Festival brings you representatives from all the major presidential candidates to debate the issues . . . Fun when you can bring your family and friends for an evening of food, fireworks and entertainment.

That's what Gallaudet's Student Union and Demonstration Programs are planning on campus Friday evening, Oct. 3 from 7 p.m. until ??? for the campus community.

The Political Festival will be the first of a number of activities planned in October, which has been dubbed "Political Awareness Month" here. For the festival, which will be held at the mall in front of the Plaza Dining Hall, the area will be decked out in red, white and blue bunting and streamers, with clowns and other entertainers to get that political spirit going. There will be balloons, flags for waving and sparklers for everyone. A signed song performance will be given by Janet Bailey and "Expressions."

Beer will be available, as well as lemonade and soft drinks. For the hungry, there will be plenty of food and goodies such as ice cream for the sweet tooth. Be sure to bring a little cash for your visit to the food area.

A highlight of the Political Festival will be the appearance of representatives from the Carter, Reagan and Anderson campaigns. They will speak about the major issues, their candidates' philosophies and other things to try to win us over to their sides and vote for their particular candidate.

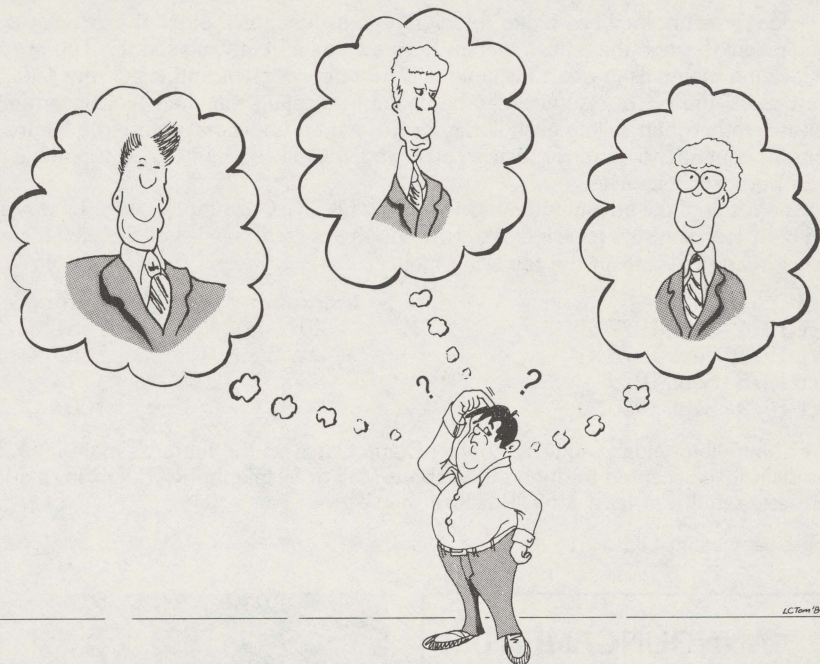

Here's a schedule of what will follow the Oct. 3 event:

- | | |
|-----------------|---|
| Mon., Oct. 6 | Media's Role in Politics
HMB Room 213, 7 p.m. |
| Mon., Oct. 13 | Candidate Night —A representative from Reagan's campaign will discuss the issues and answer questions.
HMB Room 213, 7 p.m. |
| Thurs., Oct. 16 | Politics in American History —Harold Domich |
| Mon., Oct. 20 | Candidate Night —A representative from Anderson's campaign will discuss the issues and answer questions.
HMB Room 213, 7 p.m. |
| Mon., Oct. 27 | Candidate Night —A representative from Carter's campaign will discuss the issues and answer questions.
HMB Room 213, 7 p.m. |

Finally, an election night party will be held Tuesday, Nov. 4 beginning at 9 p.m. at the Metropolitan Washington Association of the Deaf clubhouse at 3210 Rhode Island Avenue. Entry fee is $3, and you'll be able to see deaf anchor persons and interpreted election results from a giant TV screen. Music, snacks and cheerleaders will be thrown in to liven things up.

Lionel Evans—our new Dr. chair

by Gina Oliva

In the fall of 1969, a man who had just arrived on the Gallaudet College campus from National Airport was walking north on the sidewalk near the Library. A car zoomed by (this was during the College's pre-radar years), passed the pedestrian, stopped abruptly and immediately backed up alongside the pedestrian.

"Are you the guy from England?" shouted the driver of the rudely driven auto.

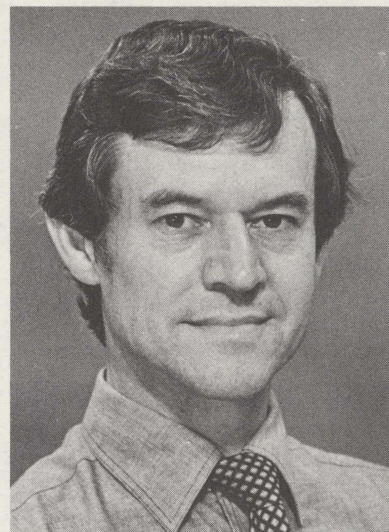

"Yes," replied the visitor somewhat tentatively.

"Well, get in," ordered the driver.

"I felt instant friendship," said Lionel Evans, describing his first experience with Powrie Vaux Doctor, the very special driver who took him to dinner on that fall day in 1969. Evans' intuition proved true, when "Doc's" freely given consultation made his two-week visit most profitable. Evans at that time was in the United States to study the relative benefits of the oral and combined methods of teaching deaf children. Dr. Doctor helped him make contact with the many programs he needed to visit and offered many suggestions for the study.

With the support and encouragement from Powrie V. Doctor and many other Americans, Lionel Evans was able to return to the United Kingdom and recommend to the British Department of Education that total communication be systematically incorporated into the curriculum for deaf children.

Today Lionel Evans is visiting Gallaudet College once again, this time for a substantially longer stay. He holds the Powrie V. Doctor Professor of Deaf Studies position for the 1980-81 academic year. (Certainly the late Doctor would agree that the honor is well-deserved.)

While at Gallaudet, Evans hopes to channel his energies into three areas. First, he has begun consultation with a number of individuals related to the educational system of the United Kingdom. He hopes that the campus community will view him as a resource in this area and visit with him for discussion or other purposes.

Second, Evans will spend time reviewing the research on total communication. He hopes to try to bring all research findings together into an overview that will be of service to persons interested in increasing the field of knowledge in this area. Evans is particularly interested in studying teaching methods that are most effective for application in total com-

Library Bits & Pieces

Interlibrary loans

by Diana Gates

In the past few years libraries have begun to use computers to catalog their materials. Libraries are now not only able to see cataloging records from other institutions, on-line via computer, but they are also able to see which library possesses a given title.

Since the Gallaudet College Library was already participating in computerized cataloging service, the Ohio College Library Center (OCLC), we began our interlibrary loan transactions on their subsystem. Previously, libraries were using standard forms which were sent through the mail. As a result, several days would be lost as the request would go through the mail, and more time would be lost if the request could not be filled.

Today's technology has aided interlibrary loan functions. Since the request is no longer sent through the mail, materials have a chance of arriving sooner. The process of locating materials in other institutions is more convenient and faster. For Consortium users, the OCLC system may be useful in locating materials at Consortium libraries rather than calling each library or making an unnecessary trip to a library. As libraries continue to do retrospective cataloging, the efficiency of OCLC for interlibrary loan purposes increases.

As a result of the advantages associated with OCLC, Gallaudet College Library's interlibrary loan statistics have increased. Although this fiscal year is not over, the increase may already be seen in the following table:

	Incoming	Outgoing
Oct. 1976 - Sept. 1977	201	551
Oct. 1977 - Sept. 1978	249	553
Oct. 1978 - Sept. 1979	330	748
Oct. 1979 - Sept. 1980*	602	1003

For interlibrary loan requests, contact Diana Gates on the Library's main floor. Requests will be accepted through the Campus Mail or by telephone, TDD x5575. Most requests require at least a week before they arrive.

*First year using OCLC.

Faculty awards

The Council for International Exchange of Scholars is reviewing American applications for 1981-82 in order to make recommendations to the Board of Foreign Scholarship and to overseas Fulbright agencies.

Meanwhile, the Council has waived deadline requirements in some cases and will accept additional applications for a number of positions—mostly teaching the fields of American literature and studies, business and economics, science and engineering, linguistics and teaching English as a foreign language. Most of the positions are in Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe and Latin America.

Interested faculty members should call or write the Program Officer for the country of greatest interest to learn the prospect for a late application in that or in any alternate country choice. Or you can contact Thomas Landers, campus Fulbright advisor and dean of the School for Education and Human Services at x5395.

Normal application deadlines are still ahead for two categories of awards announced last spring. Recent PhDs or advanced candidates with teaching experience may apply for Junior Lectureships in France, Germany, Italy and Portugal until Nov. 1, 1980. Most of the awards will be in American Literature and Studies.

Leon Auerbach is professor of mathematics.

Oct. 4 Bikathon will benefit Alumni House

Like to bicycle? Then come on out this Saturday, Oct. 4 and participate in a Bikathon that will raise money for the Alumni House Fund to help renovate the Ole Jim.

The bike trip will be to Mt. Vernon Trail, a 17-mile trip one way, or for more ambitious bikers, a 34-mile round trip.

The event is being sponsored by the activity advisors of the Student Life Office, and faculty, staff and students are invited to participate. Bikers are encouraged to try to get a sponsor, but if you don't have one, come anyway. Registration fee to join the trip is $2.

Student Life will rent 10 or 15 bikes for those wishing to participate who do not have bicycles. Thirty-three Ole Jim t-shirts will be distributed, and prizes (a bicycle, back-packing equipment and bike lockers) will be given for the most money raised.

Anyone interested or wanting more information should see David Reynolds, activity advisor in Krug 122 or 414 as soon as possible to register or get sponsor papers.

Dianne Brooks is assistant professor with the Counseling Department.

Continuing education classes begin

The Demonstration Programs Office has lined up a wonderful series of continuing education classes this semester. Here are a few starting this week:

Basic Auto Maintenance: This class is being offered for the fourth time, and each class is better than the one before. Instructor Gordon Rattray is a graduate of Gallaudet and a competent auto mechanic. Avoid garage rip-offs by learning what makes your car tick. This class starts Tuesday, Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. Tuition for eight weeks is $25.

International Folkdancing: This form of dancing is not only good exercise, it's a lot of fun. Join the instructor, Joanne Ehrlebach, for six Wednesdays and get a taste of folkdancing from all corners of the globe. Classes start Oct. 1 at 7:30 p.m. Tuition is $15.

Building on Your Relationship: We were lucky to get Max and Della Fitzgerald to agree to share their expertise in a series of workshops on human sexuality. The two have just returned from one year at the famous Masters and Johnson Institute. This workshop will focus on traditional and non-traditional sex roles. Discuss sexual variety, sexual boredom and the need to communicate. The program will be held Oct. 4 from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. in the Red Room of the Cafeteria. Tuition is $10.

How to Use an Interpreter: Join Betty Colonomos for a discussion of what interpreters are, what they can and cannot do and find out your rights as users of interpreter services. There will be lots of discussion and role playing. The program will be held Oct. 6 from 7-10 p.m. in HMB 190. It's free, but you need to register with the Demonstration Programs Office.

You must register in advance for these classes. For more information on these and other Demonstration Programs offerings, call x5597 or drop by the new office in College Hall, Room 312.

Watch for an update on other continuing education classes in future issues.

Weekly program highlight

The National Academy at Gallaudet recently received notification of an award in the amount of $47,811 from the U.S. Department of Justice Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) to develop and disseminate information materials and program models related to handicapped citizens as victims or witnesses of crime. More specifically, the project will address the availability of appropriate services to deal with the range of problems associated with victimization, the access to these services, the knowledge of how and when to ask for and use victim/witness services and the knowledge of the victim's or witness' role, rights and responsibilities in the legal process. The project will also address the needs of victim/witness service workers that may include: information on those handicapped conditions that may influence a client's need for services or ability to participate in the criminal justice system; the knowledge of how to design or modify program components to make existing programs more accessible to the handicapped; and the knowledge of special services that may be needed when the victim or witness has a physical disability and how to obtain these services. The one year grant began Sept. 1, 1980.

Third, while in the United States, Evans hopes to lay foundations for future cooperation between the University of Newcastle-upon-Tyne and Gallaudet College. This may take the form of student and/or faculty exchange, and should lead to a general enrichment of the relationship between the two.

Lionel Evans, known to his family as "Lee," grew up in Llanidloes, a small town in Sir (county) Trefaldwyn in Wales. Trefaldwyn is the Welsh name for "Montgomery." Evans is currently living in Montgomery County, MD with his wife and four sons, and he thinks of this as "Trefaldwyn."

His educational background is quite extensive, having 18 years of postsecondary experience. He attended Goldsmiths' College of the University of London, the University of Manchester, the University of Liverpool, the University of Durham and the University of Newcastle-upon-Tyne. At these universities he trained in General Education, Education of the Deaf and Psychology. His research for his Master of Arts degree was related to factors influencing lipreading; for his Master of Science degree it was related to the reliability and validity of intelligence tests when used with deaf children; for his Doctor of Philosophy degree he did research in psycholinguistics and visual communication. He attained graduate membership in the British Psychological Society in 1964 and was elected to associateship in 1974.

Evans taught at the Royal Cross School in Preston, Lancashire, the Needwood School for the Partially Hearing at Burton-on-Trent and Liverpool School for the Deaf prior to his appointment as Headmaster of Northern Counties School for the Deaf at Newcastle-upon-Tyne. During the latter half of the 15 years he has been at Northern Counties, he has also served as Honorary Lecturer in Education at the University of Newcastle-upon-Tyne. In addition, he serves as director of the Deafness Research Group at the University.

This is the second year in which Evans has spent time away from the United Kingdom. Last year, he served as Visiting Research Fellow at Murdoch University in Perth, Western Australia. There he collaborated with Professor Douglass Savage in writing a book which reports their joint research, Psychology and Communication in Deaf Children, which will be published this fall.

Lionel Evans, of course, does not "work" all the time. His hobbies include gardening and collecting and restoring vintage toys and antique furniture. He admits, however, that he often has ideas for his work while engaging in the manual tasks associated with these hobbies. On the other hand, he also admits that he sometimes thinks about furniture and toys while he is at work!

Dr. Evans' office can be found on the third floor of House, #3, with the Division of Research. He welcomes all visitors and hopes to have the opportunity to meet many faculty, staff and students during his stay at Gallaudet.

Horace Reynolds is professor of psychology.

NAD establishes new Education Section

At the 1980 Convention of the National Association of the Deaf, an important step was taken to give deaf consumers an avenue to express their views on educational issues. While organizations have existed for teachers of the deaf, administrators and parents, the NAD has not had any formal channel for deaf persons themselves to present officially their views on education of the deaf.

The establishment of an Education Section of the NAD will now enable the deaf consumer to make important contributions to professional discussions on educational issues affecting the deaf. The bylaws of this new section were approved on July 4, 1980 at an organizational meeting, and officers were elected to guide the new section for the next two years.

Gerilee Gustason, director of the Department of Education at Gallaudet, was elected director of Region I (our area) for two years. Other officers are Leo M. Jacobs, chairperson; Pete Seiler, vice chairperson; and Albert J. Hlibok, secretary/treasurer.

Membership is open to any advancing member of the NAD upon payment of the special section dues of $1 annually or $2 from convention to convention.

The section board will meet this fall to decide priorities among suggested topics and to begin the process of determining the views of NAD members on these topics. All of the officers would welcome input from anyone interested in deaf education.

For more information on the purpose of the Education Section or more details on how to become a member, contact Gerilee Gustason at x5400.

Quiet Champion

"The Quiet Champion" is scheduled to be broadcast on WETA-TV, Channel 26, on Monday, Oct. 6 at 10 p.m.

This documentary is about former Gallaudet student Dan Fitzpatrick, who trained for and competed in the XIIIth World Games for the Deaf in Romania.

The feature was produced by independent filmmaker John Marcus for Gallaudet and produced by the Office of Educational Technology here. It will carry open captions.

Catherine Moses is assistant professor with Social Work.

Energy: 19% less costs 22% more

by Jim Hull

Those are the facts of our utility picture, through this July, compared with the same 10 month period in Fiscal Year '79. Collectively, through your effort, maintenance adjustments to equipment and some automation, we have reduced our energy consumption by more than 19% on a square foot basis. Unfortunately, the utilities used actually have cost us 22% more.

There is no great secret about all this. You helped us reduce gas consumption by 105,500 cubic feet, but the cost is up 22%. You helped reduce oil consumption by 67,860 gallons and the cost is up 62%. You helped to conserve power by 1,087,835 kilowatt hours, but our total cost is down by less than 1/2 of 1%. Now think what our utility bill would have been if we had not conserved.

This is indeed quite an accomplishment, especially since we added Dorm V and KDES to our system. Take your bows now!

As many of you know, PEPCO rates have risen in DC by about 11.9% overall. The Public Service Commission has seen fit to change the method of billing the top 100 or so users in the District, and we are one of those unfortunate users. This method of billing is termed "time-of-day," derived from three separate periods in the day where different rates are charged.

The highest charge is in the time frame 12 noon to 8 p.m. on weekdays. An intermediate schedule is used from 8 a.m. until 12 noon and 8 p.m. until 12 midnight on weekdays. The third and lowest rate covers the remaining eight hours on weekdays, all weekends and holidays. This schedule hits Gallaudet quite hard—we cannot readily change our schedules to take advantage of rates. We cannot store power in less costly periods to use later. The clincher is that during the months of June through September, we are charged $7 a kilowatt for our peak load. Multiply that by 6,000 kilowatts and you can see what effect it has on the power bill.

Another cruel fact under this billing is this: if we use power at a 6,000 kilowatt level for a half hour period, that rate sticks with us for the next 11 months, even though we may use power at a substantially lesser rate.

If you haven't already guessed the point of this briefing—we need your continued support and understanding. Conservation of energy, in whatever form, will be a priority consideration for decades.

Last year I asked a number of administrators what our conservation goal should be. Answers ranged from 3 to 10%. Won't you help me set a goal for Fiscal Year '81 by indicating a percentage on a slip of paper and forwarding it to Jim Hull, Central Utilities Building? There is always room for improvement. Let me know what you think and thanks for your help.

Sports update

by Mike Kaika

The Gallaudet soccer team is off to a roaring start with three wins in as many outings. Under the artful coaching of Marty Minter and the outstanding teamwork of the players, the Bison booters defeated Cecil CC 5 to 1, Washington Bible College 3 to 2 and Harford CC 2 to 1. In the latter game Gallaudet was trailing 1 to 0 with four minutes left in the game but the Bisons tied the score and went on to win in overtime.

Women's field hockey, coached by Anita Marchitelli, is also off to a good start with a 6 to 0 victory over Anne Arundel CC and a 1 to 1 tie with Georgetown. Field hockey has a one win, no loss and one tie record so far. This year's team has a lot of experienced players and should have a good year. The field hockey team has scheduled a tournament here on Oct. 25 to make the Homecoming program all the more enjoyable. More information on this and Homecoming will appear soon.

Women's volleyball started the season on Sept. 23 with a dual meet against Catholic and American Universities. Gallaudet won one and lost two to Catholic and lost to A.U. Gallaudet's overall record so far is 1 win and 4 losses.

Men's cross country has had two invitational meets so far but results have not yet been obtained.

MSSD's football team chalked up its third victory in as many outings this season Sept. 18 against Maryland School for the Deaf by a score of 24 to 0. Scores of MSSD's other sports competitions will appear in future issues.

Robert Zambrano is assistant professor of English.

These students seem happy to be at Gallaudet for the new school year.

Correction

In the Sept. 15 issue of OTG, a line was left out of the article on Gallaudet's effort to comply with barrier free environment regulations. The Post Office, as the article stated, is not located in the basement of Washburn. That line should have read, "Efforts are being made to make the Post Office which is temporarily located in the basement of College Hall, and the Print Shop which is located in the basement of the Washburn Fine Arts Building accessible for the mobility impaired persons."

Budget: comparative information

by Paul K. Nance

The following information will give you some idea of how the Gallaudet budgets are allocated by class for Fiscal Years 1979, 1980 and 1981. The information includes the College, MSSD and KDES.

For FY 1981, the budget still must be approved by Congress; however, the amounts shown below for FY '81 have been approved by the Department of Education and the Office of Management and Budget. The information used for all three years was taken from the budget development printouts.
